Anthropology Online

A comprehensive resource for the study of social and cultural life

Anthropology Online brings together a wide range of written ethnographies, field notes, seminal texts, memoirs, and contemporary studies, covering human behavior the world over. This will be the most comprehensive resource for the study of social and cultural life yet created. Cross-searchable with *Ethnographic Video Online, Alexander Street's collection of classic and contemporary films for the anthropology classroom, Anthropology Online provides sociologists, anthropologists, cultural historians, and others with complete works of the key practitioners and theorists alike throughout the discipline.

Essential for study in the areas of politics, economics, history, psychology, environmental studies, religion, area studies, linguistics, and geography, the database will contain more than 100,000 pages of material at completion, including tens of thousands of pages of previously unpublished material from major archives.

Key names represented in the collection include Franz Boas (The Mind of Primitive Man), Ruth Benedict (Tales of the Cochiti Indians), Margaret Mead (Coming of Age in Samoa), Claude Levi-Strauss (Structural Anthropology), Clifford Geertz (The Interpretation of Cultures), A. R. Radcliffe-Brown (Structure and Function in Primitive Society), David MacDougall (Transcultural Cinema), Paul Rabinow (Essays on the Anthropology of Reason), E. E. Evans-Pritchard (Nuer Religion), and Bronislaw Malinowski (Argonauts of the Western Pacific). Other targeted names include James Clifford, Marshall Sahlins, Karl Heider, Napoleon Chagnon, and many more.

While Ethnographic Video Online is a video encyclopedia of humanity, Anthropology Online will be the full-text equivalent, covering all areas of the discipline, including cultural anthropology, linguistic anthropology, applied anthropology, visual anthropology, archaeology, urban anthropology, medical anthropology, and physical anthropology. Works from major publisher catalogs include Oxford University Press, Waveland Press, Westview Press, and Princeton University Press.

All aspects of human behavior are thoroughly covered in the collection, including kinship, family, race, material culture, marriage, gender, prehistory, evolution, kinesthetics, food and foraging, cooking, economic systems, social stratification and status, male and female roles, political organization, conflict and conflict resolution, religion and magic, and music and the arts. Alexander Street's indexing allows the content to be searchable by geographical region, cultural or kinship group, anthropological subjects, and others.

The majority of the content is in English, with some French and German material also targeted. Geographical coverage is global, with special focus given outside the developed world. Ranging from 19th century to the present day, Anthropology Online will document the history and development of the discipline itself, while also providing the most comprehensive tool for current trends and contemporary study.
