CBS News Video Collection

The CBS News Video Collection offers all CBS content available exclusively through ProQuest in a single subscription, combining 60 MINUTES: Volumes 1 & 2 and the CBS News Video Archive into one comprehensive resource.

Ideal for disciplines such as History, Political Science, Business, Environmental and Health Sciences, Global Studies, Media and Journalism, Law and Criminal Justice, Psychology, Gender and Cultural Studies, and the Performing Arts. Its broad content supports research and learning across the humanities, social sciences, and beyond.

60 MINUTES

Spanning 1997–2025, the 60 MINUTES content includes hundreds of segments not available anywhere else. True to 60 MINUTES’ style, each news segment serves as a standalone short documentary on a specific news topic and provides students, faculty, and researchers with access to news coverage, investigative reporting, and feature segments of the most important global issues of our time. You’ll also find content from the popular CBS News program Sunday Morning, providing timely news pieces, cultural features, and newsmaker profiles and segments from 60 MINUTES II spanning 1999–2005, for even more comprehensive historical coverage.

60 MINUTES delivers reporting from acclaimed journalists including Mike Wallace, Ed Bradley, Charlie Rose,

Anderson Cooper, Lesley Stahl, Morley Safer, Lara Logan, Steve Kroft, Bob Simon, and others. Reports cover a broad swath of contemporary topics and issues, with segments including:

- “The Islamic State”
- “Sheryl Sandberg”
- “Killing Bin Laden”
- “Treating Depression”
- “Brazil”
- “130 Million Tons of Waste”
- “Watching the Border”
- “Screening the TSA”
- “401K Recession”
- “War Against Women”
- “Deepwater”
- “Justice at Guantanamo”
- “American Identities For Sale”
